Profile

I am eyob, I am a recent graduate looking to land my first job. I am a quick learner ready to take responsibilities and work hard and smart with partners or coleagues for the proper and timely completion of tasks. My best quality is that I am ready to learn from seniors and pass on everything I know to others; as this is the first time I am looking for a job I would like to assure whoever is reading this summary that I am ready to work hard, be at my work place on time, display a proper work place conduct, communicate with others properly and more importantly work to progress both myself and my work place to the next level. I say I'm your guy.
